

Learning as we Grow

Enriching Education for Students with Autism and Other Neurodevelopmental Disorders

Table of Contents

- Chapter 1 Neurodevelopmental Disorders – pg. 1
- Chapter 2 About Us: Where we've been, and where we're going – pg. 5
- Chapter 3 Attitude: Your attitude is the most important tool you bring to your work with students who have neurodevelopmental disabilities. – pg. 35
- Chapter 4 Remediation & Compensation: Solutions that solve a problem in the short term may not create foundational change in the long term. A balance of short-term and long-term strategies is needed for students to be truly successful. – pg. 45
- Chapter 5 Guided Participation and the Developmental Process: We learn and grow through our relationships with others. – pg. 61
- 20 Critical Developmental Milestones from Birth to Five – pg. 73
- Chapter 6 Co-regulation for Development: Behavioral and emotional self-regulation begins with being able to regulate with others. – pg. 75
- Chapter 7 Experience Sharing Communication: The majority of the communication we use is for the purpose of sharing and relating with another. – pg. 85
- Chapter 8 Strategies to Promote Meaningful Communication: Speaking and communicating are two very different things. – pg. 95
- Chapter 9 Processing: Slow down to speed up! – pg. 107
- Chapter 10 Independent Thinking & Problem Solving: The most important outcome of the educational process is to teach students to think. – pg. 115
- Prompting Hierarchy – pg. 137
 - Fostering Flexibility Worksheet – pg. 139

Chapter 11 Environment Strategies: The physical environment plays a significant role in student success. – pg. 141

- Schedule Worksheet – pg. 159

Chapter 12 Mistakes & Competence: Students who feel incompetent do not learn and thrive. – pg. 161

Chapter 13 Compensation Strategies: There are tools and strategies that can provide short-term solutions to pressing problems. – pg. 177

- Compensations Worksheet – pg. 189

Chapter 14 The Names We Give Things: The names or labels we give students, classrooms, and programs are far less important than understanding their unique characteristics. – pg. 191

- Placement Decision Worksheet – pg. 211
- Strengths and Obstacles Worksheet – pg. 213

Chapter 15 Addressing Obstacles: The responsibility for resolving behavior obstacles and challenges lies much more with adults than it does with children. – pg. 215

Chapter 16 Partnering with Families: Parents are the primary players in the growth and development of their children. – pg. 227

Chapter 17 Visions & Outcomes: Having a vision of what constitutes a satisfying quality of life for students and their families allows us to create educational plans that accomplish meaningful outcomes. – pg. 241

- Sample Family Vision Statements – pg. 251
- Sample Staff Vision Statements – pg. 255
- Vision Statements Worksheets – pg. 259

Concluding Thoughts - pg. 261

Resources - pg. 262